Social Media Post 2: The New York Wine & Grape Foundation is on a mission to gather vital data for our industry's growth.

The grape production data they're collecting will give our industry the benchmark figures we need to compare New York winegrowing regions, within our own state and with key domestic and international winegrowing regions. And growers will have the crop data they need to make smart, strategic decisions on the future of their vineyards.

If you're a grape grower in New York, participate in the NYWGF's survey to shape the future of vineyards in our state. Your input matters!
